

PROJECTFREIGHTLINER TRUCKS
HEADQUARTERS

PORTLAND, OR USA

PROJECT DESCRIPTION

Whether remodeling or building new venues, architects find that Hufcor delivers the goods when they want performance, quality and customer service. When Freightliner Trucks was designing their new western corporate headquarters in Portland, Hufcor movable Glasswall partitions became the preferred choice of their architect.

Hufcor Glasswall enclosed a cafeteria that looked out onto a two-story atrium overlooking the Columbia River. The architect wanted to secure the cafeteria after hours, but did not want to block off a view of the river. The challenge was the need for the panels to follow the circular design of the atrium. Hufcor's Glasswall was the solution by using curved track and a design that matched the soffits.

After installation, the glass panels were etched to match the atrium's horizontal design patterns.
